

sagentia

REGULATORY

formerly TSG CONSULTING

Global regulatory compliance. Achieved.

Reduce risk. Realise opportunity. Drive compliance excellence.

Global regulatory compliance is about confidence, control and protecting market access.

Sagentia Regulatory (formerly TSG Consulting) helps plant protection organisations build and maintain robust global regulatory compliance programmes (GRCPs), giving leaders assurance that risks are understood, products remain compliant, and operations stay aligned across markets.

As regulatory complexity increases and teams are stretched, we work alongside your organisation to put clear structure, processes and governance in place – creating a practical, sustainable compliance culture that supports confident decision making in every market.

Turn over to see what your organisation gains.

What your organisation gains

Capability and confidence across functions

Targeted training strengthens competence and helps teams clearly understand and deliver their compliance responsibilities day-to-day.

Independent audits and insight

Structured, multi-region audits identify risk, benchmark maturity, and provide confidential, actionable insight to inform priorities.

Tangible, measurable progress

Prioritised action plans aligned to business needs enable improvement to be tracked and demonstrated over time.

Processes that enable consistent performance

Clear policy manuals and SOPs make expectations explicit, supporting consistent decision-making across regions and functions.

Transparent reporting for leaders

Dashboards and tailored reporting give senior teams the visibility needed for timely decisions.

A clear, achievable roadmap

A structured plan defining priorities, timelines, and responsibilities enables alignment across teams and geographies.

Visibility of global obligations

Market by market regulatory mapping ensures teams understand applicable requirements and supports effective local action.

Insight across the organisation and its value chains

Direct engagement with teams reveals strengths, pain points and opportunities, ensuring improvements are rooted in real operational needs.

Benefits for your business

A well-designed compliance programme reduces enforcement risk, strengthens market readiness and supports confident strategic decisions. With improved visibility and alignment, organisations shift from reactive “firefighting” to proactive compliance management – building trust internally and with regulators.

A smoother path to compliance

For plant protection companies seeking assurance that their compliance practices are aligned, effective and scalable, our GRCP framework provides clarity on where to focus, when to act and how to progress. Complex requirements become practical processes that work in real operational environments.

A short, no-obligation discussion is often enough to clarify next steps and identify where early wins can be achieved.

Reach out at info@sagentiaregulatory.com

